

Emer Shanley

Emer Shanley is a Registered General Nurse working in Community care in West Cork, Ireland .She has been working in Wound care for the past 7 years, and was appointed Clinical Nurse Specialist in 2011.

She completed her PG Dip Tissue Viability & Wound Management in 2011 followed MSc (Research) in 2012 in the Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland.

Emer is currently a Research Fellow in RCSI undertaking a Cochrane systematic review –“Patient education for preventing venous leg ulceration”.

She is Chairperson of Wound Management Association of Ireland (Southern Branch) and an executive council member of The Institute of Community Health Nursing.