

Erik de Laat

Erik de Laat, PhD, M ANP, RN works as a nurse practitioner at the Department of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery at The Radboud university medical center, in The Netherlands. In a multidisciplinary team of nurses, physicians and allied health care professionals he treats patients with complex wounds.

His special field of interest are patients with pressure ulcers. He published more than 100 articles in professional and scientific journals and teaches at several educational institutions.