

Evanina Morcillo Makow
DEBRA Spain director

Evanina trained as a Zoologist at Swansea University of Wales and furthered her education with a Conservation Masters at University College London (2001) and a Charity Management Masters at ESADE, Madrid (2010). After having gained experience in the charitable sector with jobs ranging from conservation issues to caring of people with disability, she joins DEBRA Spain in 2004. Since that date, DEBRA Spain has developed into an entity providing specialized care, support and training to families affected by EB as well as to healthcare professionals from the National Health System. Evanina is an Executive Committee member of DEBRA International and participates actively in broadening the knowledge about EB, both in society as in medical and research sectors.
