

Josu Xabier Llano Hernaiz

He has been working in the past years in Osatek SA, a public company of the Health Department in the Basque Country. With expertise in health system planning and managing, since 2010 he has been involved in the OSAREAN Project, the flagship e-health project of the Health Department.

With responsibility in the functional definition and deployment of different e-health services for the public health system, like the personal health record, on-line health advice, website or the tele-monitoring platform for patients with chronic conditions.

He is currently member of the working teams of several local and European projects working on the design, development and deployment of e-health solutions.