

Bill is an Associate Professor and Head of School, Nursing and Midwifery at La Trobe University and the President of the Australian Wound Management Association. . He has an appointment as a Wound Clinical Nurse Consultant at The Alfred and manages a nurse lead outpatient clinic for patients suffering from venous leg ulceration. Bill also provides an outreach wound consultation service to residential aged care and clients in their home from the Alfred. His research interests include the community management of chronic conditions including mental health, common pathologies and long term wounds.